HUMILITY, THE WAY OF THE EARTH

Jim Fitzgerald
Jungian Analyst

Through the profound experience which he recounts in the Red Book, Jung was compelled to understand the significance of Humility as a vital aspect of the economy of the human psyche. The talk will review the significance of Jung's discovery and will apply it in order to understand how humanity has treated its home planet, the Earth, to its detriment. Because of the inflated attitude of modern humans, the sacred aspect of Earth, the Anima Mundi, is endangered and in a critical condition. Only a reappraisal of true humility may generate a positive outcome.

Jim Fitzgerald was born and raised in a small village in the south of Ireland. His academic background is in Ancient Classics and Byzantine Greek. After a career as a Primary school teacher in London, he trained as an analyst at the C. G. Jung Institute in Zurich. He is a past chairman of The C. G. Jung Analytical Psychology Club, London and a founding member and past chairman of The Guild of Analytical Psychologists. He is also a Senior Member of The Independent Group of Analytical Psychologists. He has a private practice in London and has lectured widely.
